

Marshall Allen
Las Vegas Sun Healthcare Reporter

Marshall Allen writes about health care for the Las Vegas Sun. His coverage takes a decidedly investigative tone, as he represents the interests of the stakeholders with the least leverage in the medical industry – the patients. In recent months his stories have focused on an analysis of hospital billing data that reveals where and when hospital-acquired infections and injuries have occurred. In April, the Association of Health Care Journalists recognized his beat coverage as the best in the country.
