

Russell N. Suzuki, MSCIS

Founder and President of Certified Healthcare Systems

Russell N. Suzuki, MSCIS, is founder and president of Certified Healthcare Systems (Certified), a leading partner for Electronic Health Records (EHR) leader Allscripts in the Western US. Certified provides comprehensive consulting, sales, training, support and hardware installation for the Allscripts MyWay EHR and Practice Management Solution and maintains current sponsorships with the Clark County Medical Society, Southern Nevada Medical Industry Coalition (SNMIC), and Nevada Health Care Forum. Additionally, Suzuki is the founder and president of Falcon Technology, which provides comprehensive IT hardware solutions and support for local businesses, schools and non-profits throughout the western US.

Prior to founding Falcon Technology and Certified, Suzuki served as an active duty hospital administrator over a seven-year period with the United States Air Force. He completed his military career as medical Chief Information Officer at Los Angeles Air Force Base where he oversaw successful implementation of AHLTA, the Department of Defense's EHR.

As a strong supporter of the healthcare community, Suzuki serves on numerous committees. He was a member of the recently completed Nevada Governor's Task Force for Health Information Exchange and EHR, Interim President of the Nevada Chapter of the Healthcare Information Management Systems Society (HIMSS), and co-chair of the SNMIC EHR Committee.

Suzuki holds a Bachelor's of Science in Management from the Air Force Academy and Master's of Science in Computer Information Systems from University of Phoenix and currently resides in North Las Vegas with his wife and children.
